Language Arts:

In the next two weeks we will be talking about the weather and Earth Day. We will discuss the change in weather with our new season of Spring. We will learn the three R's of recycling; reduce, reuse, and recycle. Practicing all three of these activities every day will help keep the environment we live in healthy and safe. We will continue reviewing all of our stories that have been introduced so far. As well as, reading stories and finger plays to go with our theme.

Motor:

The students will hopefully be able to enjoy our outdoor equipment as we observe the weather around us. We will also participate in "Duck, duck, goose" and "London Bridge" for indoor motor.

Concept

Our weather watchers will have plenty to observe if our Spring continues the way it has been. We will work together to match the proper weather and clothing choices to the correct season. Our future environmentalists will also sort plastic, paper, and metal recycling.

Craft and Writing:

The children are so excited to finally show off their amazing art work at the upcoming art fair. They've worked so hard and you should be extremely proud of their work. We will also enjoy making crafts that have to do with the weather and Earth day. It will be a fun two weeks!
