

Junior Journal

Weeks 21 and 22: January 14-25, 2019

Theme: Healthy Children

Language Arts

As we discuss our topic of healthy children, we will be exploring the food groups and food pyramid. The children will also be exercising their brains when I introduce our riddle game. Each day, five objects will be placed on a covered tray, and then described, I wonder how many we will get right? There will also be a discussion on doctors, nurses, and dentists. Our own little doctor's office at school will be very busy. Lastly, the children will enjoy the story Those Mean, Dirty, Downright

Disgusting, but Invisible Germs.

Concept:

The children will be using their sense of touch to help them guess what is inside my "healthy things" bag. They will also have fun sorting healthy and non-healthy food. I will also be introducing a new hole punch activity that they children will be sure to love. Assuming the snow is still on the ground, we will bring it inside and play with it in our water table.

Motor:

Bundle up! We will be going outdoors as long as it's above 20 degrees (including the wind chill). Indoors, the children will be engaging in various action CDs.

Please label all of your child's winter clothing.

Craft and Writing

Look for several papers to help us learn our new colors and letters! We will also be making healthy foods collage to display in our classroom. Please bring in pictures of foods to be used on our collage.
