Thanksgiving Blessings

THEME: Native Americans

November 2, 2020

Our discussions during the next several weeks will prepare us to celebrate Thanksgiving. This week, we will begin discussing our Native American brothers and sisters, and how they helped the Pilgrims during their first winter in North America.

Numbers 13 and 14 will be introduced this week as will as Story #5, I Can.

Mrs. Paula, Mrs. Karen, Mrs. Cathy and Miss Demi

Craft and Writing: Our new letters M and N will be practiced this week. To prepare for our Pow Wow, the children will begin making Native American necklaces and headbands.

Concept: Our estimation skills are becoming increasingly more accurate as we continue into another week of school. In addition to the introduction of 13 and 14, we will compare and contrast the life of the Native Americans to the life of modern day families.

Language Arts: Now that Halloween has left the building, it's time to talk about one of the main characters at the Thanksgiving Feast, the Native Americans. How did the Native Americans make our First Thanksgiving a total hit? We will answer this question, sing songs, and read "Squanto" by Sonia W. Black.

Motor: We will be adding numbers 13 and 14 to our exercise routine. The hula hoop path will include all our action words. Let's also review all of our shapes.
