THEME: Stranger Danger

Not only near Halloween, but for all year long, Stranger Danger is a very important topic to cover with the children. The concept of who is a stranger and what we should do if we get lost will be reinforced through our discussions.

Have a great week!!

Introductions

Letters Kk & Ll

Shapes: oval & diamond

Expressive Vocabulary: safety, costume, uniform, jack-o-lantern

Story 4 Vocabulary: See, Me

Concept: As we approach one of our favorite holidays, Halloween, our safety theme continues and we will explore the meaning of Stranger Danger. Numbers 11 and 12 are introduced. To enhance our fine motor skills, the children will use tweezers to pick pumpkin seeds from a bowl.

Language Arts: Now that we've talked about our safety rules and safety helpers, we will help the children understand who strangers are.. This weeks highlighted books are "Never Talk to Strangers" by Irma Joyce, and "Where are You?" by Francesca Simon., and a board book called "Safe at Play." We will discuss Safe vs Not Safe and continue singing Halloween and Fall themed songs.

Craft and Writing: As we introduce our new letters K & L, we will practice writing them, as well as learn some new things that begin with each letter. We will also introduce our new shapes oval and rhombus and make Jack O'Lanterns and fall mosaics.

Motor: A game of Red Light, Green Light will help review our action words stop and go. Stop, Drop, and Roll will be reviewed throughout the week.

Happy Birthday!
