Star Students: Armando (10/14), Finnleigh (10/21) and Emilia (10/28)

LANGUAGE:

There are so many fun and exciting activities in store for the next 3 weeks. The children are going to love all we learn about Halloween, pumpkins, bats and more. We have songs to sing, books to read, and many role playing activities. Each week will be more spooktacular than the one before!

The children will continue to learn their letters (Kk & Ll) and their phonetic sounds. Reading stories will be reviewed and we will discuss appropriate manners. Lastly, we have a new fable to learn: The Boy and the Hazelnuts.

CONCEPT:

In concept, we will add to the shelf jobs the new letters and numbers that we are introducing. We will estimate and rote count Halloween objects. The children will also count how many more days until Halloween when we do the daily calendar routine.

In Science, we have many experiments pertaining to Halloween fun. Some of these experiments are exploding pumpkins, bats flying and one with candy corn. Lastly, Pumpkin Jack experiment will be done (this is an all year experiment)!

CRAFT AND WRITING:

The children are going to enjoy working on the art and craft projects we have planned for the next few weeks. Be on the look out for many Halloween crafts such as painting pumpkins, bat creations and a spider salt web.

We will also continue to print our names, letters and numbers. Remember when you practice at home with your children that they hold their pencil correctly, they start their printing from the top and they take their time. Practice makes progress!
