Week # 22 January 6–10, 2025

Winter

Introducing:
Blends
Telling time by the hour
Long and short vowels

LANGUAGE AND READING:

The children will learn about winter this week and all of the amazing things that occur. We will discuss weather changes, hibernation, winter activities and arctic animals. We have many books to help with the discussion.

The children will continue to practice their CVC words and practice their vowel sounds. Blends will be introduced.

Be on the look out for some Guided Reading books coming home soon.

CONCEPT:

There is a lot to learn about the weather change and season change. We have many exciting experiments planned including a snowstorm in a jar and an exploding snowman.

As always, we will go off the concept shelves and continue to review the calendar daily.

CRAFT AND WRITING:

As always, we will work on readiness papers. We will practice our handwriting skills by taking our time to properly form letters and write about a melted snowman.

Plenty of winter crafts will be enjoyed as the children create snowflakes, snowmen and maybe even a snow globe!

PARENT NOTES:

We are nearing the 100th day of school. On Tuesday, January 14th we will be officially 100 days smarter. We are asking that you dress your child up like they are 100 years old on this day. I will be sending home more information soon on other activities that we will need your help with.
